OSH AT THE END OF JUNE: WORK WEEKEND II

By John Roach

The AirVenture grounds at Oshkosh are slowly waking. Our May Work Weekend was a quiet time. There were signs of improvements, but most activity was leisurely. A month later with only thirty days to the big event, the pace has quickened. A hurried buzz has developed. Work crews are everywhere.

A new flight-line briefing building has popped up like a spring flower. And four EAA 932 members (Greg Dowski, Mike Dean, Dave Spitzbart, and John Roach) spent the weekend prepping and painting its interior rooms. John Kemper toured many buildings hanging signs to help visitors during the convention. While Scott Feeman was in the carpentry shop building new sign boards which will display maps of the AirVenture grounds.

The new FAA tower has grown faster than a weed. What was only a hole in the ground at the end of May has now reached the floor level of the tower cab where the controllers will be standing some time next year.

INTERNATIONAL YOUNG EAGLE DAY JUNE 9

Our youngest Chapter Member, Austin Emery, 15 (R) and sister Dana, 9, buckle-up for a Young Eagle flight. Pilot Dave Spitzbart is in the background. Austin is one of the winners of our 2007 EAA 932 sponsored EAA Air Academy scholarships.

Austin's Mom, Linda Emery, chats with member Pam Hack who is making sure all the paper work is properly handled.

First timers Austin Leggett, 8, and sister Aerin, 10, are anxious to go and try to find their house and school.

Construction on the tower will be suspended beginning next week until AirVenture is over. Much of the landscaping around the new buildings still remains to be done. Large metal tent frames dot AeroShell Square, ready to be covered with bright colored canvas and filled with exciting displays. While the tempo is picking up, there is still much left to do. Motor homes and trailers are beginning to dot the campground. By the third week in July, camp sites will still be available but getting harder to find. The now empty flight lines will be filling with almost every type of plane you can imagine. And the now frequently empty skies will be filled with aircraft – the old and the new, the familiar and the unique.

AirVenture 07 is building a head of steam. Be there. It's something you really shouldn't miss.

THREE OLD PILOTS COMMISERATE

Oscar: "Everything is accomplished through teamwork (CRM) until something goes wrong....then the Captain gets all the blame."

Foxy: "Standard checklist practice requires pilots to read to each other procedures used every day; and recite from memory those needed only once every five years."

Papa: "An FAA investigation is conducted by non-flying experts who take six months to itemize the mistakes made by a crew that had six seconds to do anything."

COOL PLACES TO FLY TO IN THE HEAT OF SUMMER

John Roach reports on the June 10th Fly-in and picnic and other summer happenings

The summer flying season is flying high, with multiple events to visit almost every weekend. For example the June 10th Vintage Aircraft Fly-in Picnic at One Zero Charlie was visited by 17 fly-in guests (most using Rwy. 18 and several with breathtaking breaks over the lake) and an almost equal group of drive-in visitors.

A good time was enjoyed by all.

The weather was perfect, the food (grilled chicken and ribs plus many tasty dishes to pass) was plentiful, and fifty to sixty happy diners sat and talked about flying.

Another recent really good fly-in was the recent pancake breakfast at Palmyra. This event attracted about 100 aircraft and probably more than 1000 hungry Father's Day visitors. Now in its 57th year, it uniquely features radishes. Radishes? They were crisp and tasty; an unexpected delight, especially at breakfast. Well worth keeping in mind for next Father's Day. If you are looking for a place to fly this year, check the web site at <http://web.mac.com/ea60/iWeb/poker>. There are still seven more Midwest EAA Poker Run events scheduled where you can collect tokens and possibly win up to $250.

The next poker run event will be at 10C on Sunday July 15. Along with your poker run token, you'll be eligible to help with the pancake breakfast, or the Young Eagles flights, or get your car washed with a donation to the McHenry High School POMS squad. Everyone's welcome so invite your friends and neighbors and come on out!
